Since my website is about some beautiful photos, so I need some color can bring people feel relax and happiness. If I am going to put some photo for each event blog, I will pure color for background so that the text and picture can be read easier. I will also add some Spartan related logo and green color to my website so that it can contain some East Lansing's special characteristic.